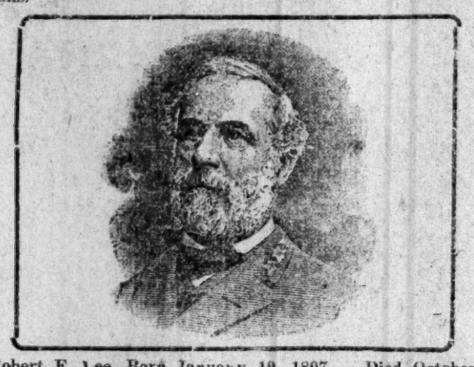
ANNUAL GATHERING OF WEARERS OF THE GRAY

Confederate Veterans of Alexandria and Their Friends Hold Banquet in Honor of General Robert E. Lee, The South's Great Chieftan—Eloquent Addresses by Senator McKellar of Tennessee and Representative Carlin of This City.

Lee Camp Hall on Prince street in this city was the scene of an enjoyable gathering of the wearers of the Gray and their invited guests who assembled there on Saturday evening in honor of the 111th anniversary of the birth of the South's great chieftan, General Robert E. Lee.

One of the things which was brought to the attention of those present was that the small number of the old veterans was most noticeable, some of whom had been called hence during the past twelve months, while others were detained at home on account of illness and other reasons. But those of them who were permitted to be present, however, were the same good natured, genial gentlemen as in the days gone by and proud as ever to wear the uniform which marked them as Confederate veterans.



General Robert E. Lee. Born January 19, 1807 — Died October 12, 1870

The tables, which were spread in the large double parlors on the first floor, were arranged with excellent taste, adorned with flowers and loaded down with all the good things the appetite could wish for, and was served with much credit by the ladies of the Woman's Auxiliary and United Daughters of the Confederacy. Included in the list of eatables was the following:

The Menu.

Meats

Roast Turkey Jellies

Baked Ham

Banquet Rolls Coffee

Celery Mixed Pickles

Salads

Chicken Potato Cold Slaw

Ice Cream

(Confederate Colors)

Pound Cake Diamond Slices

Fruit

Oranges Malaga Grapes

Nuts Confections Mints

Cigars Punch

The veterans and their friends to the number of about eighty sat down to the feast and it is hardly necessary to add that it was greatly enjoyed by every one present. The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. J. W. Duffey, chaplain of R. E. Lee Camp, who came over from his home at Rockville, Md., for the purpose of attending the banquet.

Commander John R. Zimmerman presided as toastmaster and after the coffee and cigars had been reached and Adjutant Edgar Warfield, Sr., had read General Lee's farewell address, he introduced Hon. Charles C. Carlin as the first speaker. Mr. Carlin, in his usual graceful and happy manner, paid a high compliment to the Daughters of the Confederacy in Alexandria for the part they had taken in keeping alive the sentiment which made the anniversary dinner possible. His tribute to the South's great chieftan was eloquent and appreciated. He recalled many of the deeds of valor performed by the army of the South in the great four years' strife of a half a century ago and said that never were there braver soldiers than those who followed General Lee. In referring to the present world war he paid his respects in withering sarcasm to the profiteers who are attempting to make money from the war while our boys are shedding their blood in the trenches in France. His remarks brought forth hearty applause.

Senator Kenneth McKellar, of Tennessee, was next introduced, and quickly secured the attention of all by a humorors reference to Representative Carlin and a certain other gentleman known in years gone by as T. Roosevelt, and an experience which the latter is said to have had with St. Peter in the other world.

In opening he took occasion to say that no Congressional district in the United States is better represented than the Eighth district of Virginia Mr. Carlin's district. Senator Martin and the other Virginians in the national legislature were not forgotten and President Wilson and the other Presidents which Virginia has given the country were referred to in the course of his remarks. As a member of the Senate Military Committee McKellar is in a position to know the inside workings of things military in Washington and he gave some highly interesting information concerning them before he closed. His references to General ee and the other great men of the South were eloquent and timely and that they were appreciated was clearly indicated by the rounds of cheers which they elicited.

The Rev. E. V. Regester, the Rev. J. W. Duffey and Mr. J. Fred Birrell also made brief speeches and others were called for but owing to the lateness of the hour declined.

During the course of the evening Miss Virginia Downey rendered several numbers on the piano which were highly enjoyed, especially some of the old Southern airs which will never grow old.

MISSING GIRL.

Young Washington Lady Came to Alexandria for a Visit She Tells Her Parents.

Margaret Clifford, aged 16 years, gave her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Pyle, of 620 H street, southwest, Washington, a bad fright by not returning home on Friday last. The police were notified and took up the search for her but it came to a happy ending yesterday morning when she returned home.

"I had just been over to Alexandria visiting a girl friend," said Miss Clifford, "and I suppose I ought to have gotten word to my mother where I was, but I just thought she would know, as I often visit my friend there."

POPE TO PROTECT PALESTINE.

British Select Irish Catholic Regiment to Guard Holy Shrines.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 21.—"England will declare Pope Benedict protector of the holy shrines of Palestine," said Mgr. Arthur Staplyton Barnes, Catholic rector of Oxford University and a British army chaplain, in an address at the Academy of Notre Dame yesterday.

"The British government," he continued, "has selected the men of an Irish Catholic regiment as guards outside the places sanctified by the life and death of Christ, and every sacred spot is in charge of the Franciscans."

Alexandria City and Suburbs

The Allison W. C. T. U. will meet this evening at 7.45 in the Children's Home.

Mrs. R. B. Hacker, of New York city, is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. H. W. Hall, who is quite ill at her home in North Payne street.

Violet, daughter of Walter I. Downing, of this city died in Garfield hospital, Washington, yesterday. She was about three years old and her remains will be brought here and buried in Bethel cemetery today.

The funeral of Miss Margaret Penn, whose death occurred in Washington on Saturday, will be held from Wheatley's chapel in this city tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. The interment will be in Bethel cemetery. She was a former resident of Alexandria.

Most people would be entirely satisfied, so far as the weather is concerned, if they could be assured that no more arctic temperatures would be experienced in Alexandria this winter, but according to the predictions of Berlin H. Wright, a noted astronomer, such will not be the case. Concerning the remainder of the present month he predicts as follows: "From the 20th to the 24th a storm period and severely cold, especially west of the Mississippi river, at the same time cold driving rains will sweep over the southeastern states, except in Florida. The 25th and 26th will be much colder, especially in the southwestern states, while northeasterly winds and general cloudiness will prevail in the southeastern Gulf and Atlantic states. The 27th and 28th will be mild with southerly winds and rains in the south and snow squalls in the far northern states, while the 29th to the 31st will bring a general and severe storm period, especially in the northwestern region, with milder weather in the east."

"Stonewall" Jackson was born 94 years ago today—Jan. 21, 1824.

Mrs. A. Cornelius Wyckoff, who died in Huntington, West Virginia, on Friday last, will be buried in Warrenton, this state.

There was but one case on the docket of the Police Court this morning. Two white men were charged with fighting. They failed to appear and forfeited their collateral.

Mr. Bard Corl, of Del Ray, Alexandria county, has enlisted in the aviation corps and will leave tomorrow to attend the aviation training school at Ashton, Texas.

Sergeant Frederick G. Abner, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Julia I. Mankin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hantzmon, 227 North Royal street, this city, were married Saturday night at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. E. V. Regester.

The Old Dominion Glass factory did not open this morning and will remain closed until Wednesday, it is stated, in compliance with the order of the United States Fuel Administration. The 250 employees will therefore get an unlooked for holiday vacation of two days.

The Cameron Club will hold the second of a series of patriotic lectures tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. George T. Klipstein in Prince street. Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett and Mr. Harold Keats, representing the war department training camp activities commission, will speak. The addresses promise to be of unusual interest and will appeal to all those who have friends and loved ones in the training camps. Mrs. Barrett will tell of her experiences while visiting the various cantonments. The usual silver collection will be taken for the benefit of the school nurse's fund.

The meeting to have been held by the Red Cross tonight at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce has been postponed until tomorrow night.

The meeting of the teachers of St. Paul's Sunday school which was called for tomorrow night, has been postponed until Monday evening, Jan. 28th.

Deputy Marketmaster James B. Martin of this city is in receipt of a letter from Constance H. Scott, of the Canadian Red Cross, Cockspur street, London, England, concerning his son, Samuel B. Martin, who was wounded in France and is now in the hospital at Liverpool, England. The letter says: "Dear Sir: I am very glad to be able to tell you that when our Red Cross visitor saw Private Martin recently he was doing well and had been out walking all afternoon. Trusting he may soon be quite well again, I am, Yours truly, Constance H. Scott." The letter gives another illustration of the splendid manner in which the Red Cross looks after and cares for the wounded and sick soldiers. Is it any wonder that an organization of that character should have a warm place in the hearts of the parents and friends of the soldiers? Can you imagine the consolation and happiness that has been brought to Mr. Martin by the care and attention that has been bestowed upon his son by the Red Cross people in a foreign land? In addition to that he also deeply appreciates the trouble they have taken to keep him informed of his son's condition. The work the Red Cross is doing is that of real, practical christianity and Alexandrians have had a real demonstration brought home to them in the case of Mr. Martin's son. No money can be more wisely or more humanely expended than that which is paid out to the Red Cross organization.

MILITARY HIGH MASS.

Solemn and Impressive Ceremonies at Knights of Columbus Building at Quantico Camp Yesterday.

With an armed guard of ten men presenting arms before the altar at the consecration, a bugle sounding and drums rolling their warning of the approach of the sacred moment, a solemn military high mass was offered at the new Knights of Columbus building in Camp Quantico at 10 o'clock Sunday morning as a dedication service. In eloquent words, teeming with patriotism, the recreation hall was offered to the men, by the Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Connell of Richmond who then inparted his blessing on them and told them to go forth and defend the flag.

Every detail of the impressive service was marked with military colors and the hall was beautifully decorated with signal flags and the stars and stripes. Behind the altar was a great United States flag and two huge flags hung above the sanctuary, the lower corners being gathered and drawn to the side and fastened with wreaths of holly.

"I have always believed in peace," said Bishop O'Connell, in part of his sermon," but I have now become a heretic to that view. There never was a war so necessary and which was so beneficial we hope in its results. An attempt has been made to carry on our civilization without a personal God and without essential difference between right and wrong. That is the teaching of the German philosophy and the primary cause of this war. Till this philosophy is arrested there is no hope of justice or permanent peace. If the Germans are right and their philosophy is expressive of the German mind there is no moral law and christianity is dead in effect. I no not wish to deny to the Germans anything to which they are entitled. They have done all for physical civilization that can be done but they have excluded the spiritual world from our existence. The most dangerous German propaganda was carried on before the war and filtered into our school system. This German teaching undermines our patriotic spirit. It is foreign to us for this country's laws are founded on the laws of God. Do you think we have a right to drive God out of his creation? This is, in fact, what the German teaching does. You soldiers are the crusaders of our modern times. You are going forth to prevent the overthrow of christianity. Go forth and do your duty. If you return you will be received with honor and joy. If you lay down your lives your memories will be cherished and your country will write your names high on the roll of honor. What is more your creator will give you that reward due those who die as martyrs to duty. When you stand beside the French soldiers remember that Lafayette and Rochambeau stood beside Washington when our independence was achieved at Yorktown."

The mass was celebrated by Rev. William A. Marchant assisted by Rev. Louis J. O'Hern and Rev. Cornelius F. Thomas, all of Washington.

In the afternoon there was a program of music and addresses conducted by the K. C. Secretary, Theo. A. Thoma. The speakers were Brig. General John A. Lejeune, commander of Quantico Camp, Rev. E. G. Fitzgerald of Washington, Post Chaplain, E. B. Niver, William Knowles Cooper, General Secretary of the "Y" at Washington.

Songs were rendered by Post Song Leader Nelson and Dennis E. Cornell of Washington and a monologue was rendered by A. B. White of Washington. Selections were rendered by the post band.

NORFOLK-WASHINGTON ROAD.

Another Straight Shoot Railway on Paper, but 150-Mile Line May Come.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 21.—Although the charter recently issued by the State Corporation Commission for a new company to be known as the Washington and Norfolk Railway Company names but a nominal capital, it is understood the company means business. E. B. Johnson is named as president of the company, and W. H. Terry secretary. Both of these gentlemen are citizens of this city. While they give out no particulars as yet, it is understood here that there are well developed plans for building a railway line from here to Alexandria, a distance of about 150 miles This charter may prove to be more than a scrap of paper.

Funeral Notice,

Funeral of Miss Margaret C. Penn, will take place from Wheatley's Chapel at 3.30 p. m. tomorrow. (Washington papers please copy.)

GETS BLACK HAND LETTER.

City Councilman Clinton S. Ballenger Told That His Time Has Come—Police Searching for Writer.

City Councilman Clinton S. Ballenger, who resides at 1920 Duke street, in this city, on Friday night last about ten o'clock, found a "Black Hand" letter in the vestibule of his home. The letter reads as follows:

"My dear Friend: Your time has come to die. This means you, Clinton Ballenger. Do you remember the glove?"

Mr. Ballenger says the letter was written on Southern Railway Company's letter paper (Form 815) and was also enclosed in a southern Railway Company envelope. The writing was done on a typewriter.

Mr. Ballenger says he was not aware that he had any enemies and is at a loss to know from whom or for what reason the letter was sent to him. He has placed the matter in the hands of the police officials and no effort will be spared to run down and punish the guilty party.

Again Down to Zero.

The weather forecaster announced last Saturday afternoon that another frigid wave was coming, and early yesterday morning snow began to fall and continued to fall until between ten and eleven o'clock in the morning, when the heavens cleared and the sun shone brightly.

There were no indications that the night was to be extremely cold, but at an early hour this morning the mercury in some thermomterers was down to zero. As the day advanced it rose somewhat.

Cold comfort was handed out today by the Weather Bureau in its forecast for this section during the next forty-eight hours:

"Fair and continued cold with probably snow b ytomorrow. Lowest temperature 10 degrees. Tuesday slightly warmer."

NUMBERS SEEKING COKE DESCENT UPON THE 'ARK'

Contracted Quarters of the Gas Office in City Hall Packed With Humanity at an Early Hour Today.

It was announced in the Gazette last week that at nine o'clock this morning one load of coke would be sold to each person upon application at the clerk's office of the gas department in the City Hall. Long before that hour numbers of persons, male and female, white and black, including some children were on hand waiting for the opening of the office. Some mothers carried little ones in their arms, who occasionally fretted. By nine o'clock the small area of the gas office was closely packed with humanity, while in the corridor an equal number stood in line anxious to enter. The applicants entered at the west door and after having received their tickets made their exits from the east door.

The scene was suggestive of Hollwell's description of his experience in the Black Hole of Calcutta during the Sepoy rebellion and would have afforded suggestions for Dickens.

A few years ago, when coke was often a drug upon the market and selling at one-half what it is now bringing, had any one forecasted that Alexandria was destined to have a coke line he would have been deemed a fit subject for a commission de lunatico inquirendo.

Those fortunate enough to secure one of the coveted tickets for a load were compelled to find some person to transport it to their homes, and probably pay another to place it in their cellars. After the cost is considered it will be shown that the price of a load of this gas house by-product will amount to the sum paid for a load of anthracite coal (delivered) two score years ago.

Alexandria, as well as every section of the country, is experiencing one of the sad results of war. The Kaiser will have much for which to answer at the court of assizes from which there is no appeal. The mercury in the thermometer at an early hour today was down to zero, and many persons awoke in cold houses and with nothing from which to start a fire. Mothers later were forced to carry children in their arms and enter lines and wait for hours until they could reach the window in the gas office from which coke tickets were dispensed. Is the Lord of Sabaoth unconcerned at such scenes?

RUSS REIGN OF TERROR.

Former Muscovite Minister Assassinated Last Night by Soldiers, Sailors and Workmen.

Petrograd, Jan. 21.—The Bolsheviki are going to maintain a socialistic state in Russia, with full knowledge that serious bloodshed must result from such a course.

Nikolai Lenine, head of the Bolsheviki government, introducing in the constituent assembly a resolution indorsing Bolsheviki control declared:

"We recognize the impossibility of accomplishing a socialistic state except by civil war. But that does not deter us."

Already two prominent Russians have paid for their opposition to the provisional government with their lives. Last night former Cadet Ministers Kokoshkin and Shingareff were assassinatel by a band of sailors, soldiers and workmen.

The Bolsheviki, backed by the military guard and the guns of three warships on the Neva, have refused to permit the constituent assembly to reconvene. This dissolution, ordered by Lenine has brought to a climax the violent opposition of the socialist revolutionary party.

Bolsheviki leaders today openly and with a show of fearlessness predicted that their enemies are now preparing a campaign of terror.

Stockholm, Jan. 21.—It became known here today that a peace conference in which only German Socialist leaders and the Bolsheviki will participate may be held shortly in Christiania, Copenhagen, or Stockholm.

Socialists from Berlin recently held a secret conference with Bolsheviki leaders here, but it is said that peace was not discussed.

A conference on the question of a separate peace for Russia will be held at the proposed parley.

DESCENT UPON THE 'ARK'

Marine Monte Carlo Captured Yesterday Afternoon and Proprietors and Patrons Locked up.

What was formerly the hull of the ferry steamer Columbia, of the Washington and Alexandria Steamboat Line, and which during the past ten years or more has been used as a houseboat for gamblers, frequented by hundreds of Washingtonians, Alexandrians and men from lower Fairfax county and other places in this vicinity, was captured without firing a gun yesterday afternoon, and twenty-nine persons of the masculine gender brought to the station house in this city upon the charge of gambling.

The raid was made by E. C. Payne, inspector for the State prohibition commissioner, who personally represented Governor Henry C. Stuart, Mr. Payne was assisted in the work of raiding by Sheriff J. R. Allison, of Fairfax County and Deputy Sheriff H. M. Cross, also of Fairfax County, Detective Sergeants Kelly, Sweeney, Scrivener and Davis, of Washington, and Chief C. T. Goods, Sergt. Wilkinson and Patrolman Charles Roland, of the Alexandria police force.

The officers declare that there were several games being played aboard the ark. They took $26.30 which it is said was found on one of the tables.

Had the police withheld their activity for fifteen minutes at least fifty more persons would have fallen into the net.

The order for the raid, it was stated last night, was secretly put in force by Gov. Stuart himself. It is said that the wives of patrons of the ark have recently sent letters to Gov. Stuart urging him to act.

The police who made the raid stated that every sort of game was running. The "Ark" habitues, so the police say, were in their shirt sleeves and breathing heavily when the raiders entered and plied on them. In all the search and only one quart of liquor could be found, but it was impossible to find the owner.

The proprietors and their visitors were brought before the grand jury at Fairfax today. In the trial they are liable to a $100 fine and a 60-day jail sentence if convicted.

Those charged with running "The Ark" are Edward Heath, sr., who admitted, the officers say, that he was the proprietor; Edward Heath, jr.; Bernard Heath, Joseph Heath and James Davis, employes. The others taken into custody gave the names of W. B. Coombs, J. W. Clemmson, W. T. Ladan, Thomas Ratcliffe, Robert Arnold, J. C. Meade, James Black, W. B. Lee, B. S. Fierry, A. L. Alexander, Samuel Armstead, John Brown, A. M. Keesler, B. M. Heflin, Edward Alexander, Frank Thompson, S. J. Marroll, Robert Bardell, Edward Waters, Robert Bender, Sam Mills, John McNay, Charles Eckstein and Joseph Mills.

The special car bearing the officers and their prisoners left Alexandria at 8 o'clock for Fairfax, where they were locked up for the night. Many persons had gathered in the streets to see them off.

Inspector Payne telegraphed Gov. Stuart of the success of his mission and asked what disposition should be made of "The Ark." The inspector said he would ask Gov. Stuart for authority to destroy "The Ark" with dynamite.

After the raid had been made two special deputies from Fairfax County were left by Payne to guard the ark. The gambling paraphernalia was taken to Fairfax courthouse this morning, and under the Virginia law it will be destroyed. It represents an investment of several thousand dollars.

OLD GUARD AT THE FESTIVE BOARD.

The annual reunion and banquet of survivors of the armies of the late Southern Confederacy, given under the auspices of R. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans, last Saturday night, was enjoyable in every detail. Of course many were missing who in past years had enlivened the reunion. The roster has, as may be expected, grown small as the years have elapsed since the scenes at Appomattox. But few Alexandrians who returned to their homes in 1865 are now living and moving among us. Most of such have long been gray beards; others are, in scriptural language, as the flourishing almond tree, and ere long in their cases the dust shall return to the earth as it was and their spirits to God who gave them.

The Confederate veteran is an interesting study, and when the few who are left appear on these annual occasions they bring to the minds of those cotemporaneous with them many reminiscences.

It required time to blunt the keen edge of their sad disappointment when they were compelled, by superior force, to renounce their visions of another English-speaking nation on the American continent. But poignant as was their sorrow, the sting was, in a measure, molified by the thought that they had not been subdued by a foreign power, and while the Southern Confederacy was to become a memory, the great mass of people in the other section of the country were not wearing the bloody shirt, but were ready and anxious to call them as brothers.

Time, which cures all our wounds, like patience, has had its perfect work, and all are now Americans ready to make sacrifices in order to win a war against a power more brutal than old England in the days of George III.

While references were made by the speakers Saturday night to issues which brought on the civil war, nothing was uttered which could have offended any one who had worn the blue. It was a reunion of ex-Confederates, but at the same time a meeting of loyal Americans under the Stars and Stripes.

Several years ago Representative Heflin, of Alabama, was one of the speakers at the reunion. He in a vein of pleasantry told of the birth of his native state, its marriage to Uncle Sam, the family jars of 1861 when the paterfamilias discharged the colored servants without consulting his wife, the divorce proceedings which followed, the decision of the court at Appomattox which non-suited the wife, and the good-natured part played by Uncle Sam when he once more threw his protecting arms around his frau, implying that any one who dared molest her would do so over his dead body.

EYESORE ELIMINATED.

The descent by officers of the law upon the floating gambling palace known as the "Ark", which has disgraced the waters of the Potomac river and Hunting Creek for over a decade is hailed with delight by the many who have endeavored ever since it has been in operation to direct the attention of the authorities to this defiance of law under the shadow of the Capitol of the United States.

"The Ark," as it is called, is the hull of the old Washington and Alexandria ferry steamer Columbia, the upper works of which were destroyed by fire while at her berth in Washington at the beginning of the present century. The hull was purchased and converted into a houseboat for gambling, and first appeared off Jones's Point, opposite the reclaimed Barbising Cove, over ten years ago, where it remained until it was deemed prudent by the owners to remove it, as it was known that the United States and Maryland authorities were about to take action. It was towed well into Hunting Crook where it was grounded, and where it has been since operated without let or hindrance from the authorities of Mount Vernon Magisterial District, Fairfax county, who have jurisdiction.

It has long been believed by certain people that Captain Kidd sunk money in Hunting Creek, although no one has ever been able to locate the spot. The captain is quoted as saying he discarded a chest of treasure in the mouth of the first creek south of Alexandria. Doubtless more money has been sunk by Washingtonians, Alexandrians and others in gambling in Hunting Creek than the pirate of the early days of the country placed in its mouth.

In this connection it may be stated that there are undoubtedly other gambling resorts in Fairfax county and contiguous to the "Ark" and probably within the present jurisdiction of the city of Alexandria. It is hoped that it will not be necessary to wait for the Governor to act in the future.

The elimination of the "Ark" brings to mind an incident in the history of Alexandria dating back into ante bellum days. A benevolent old mowan residing on south Fairfax street took into her home two orphan brothers while they were in the first decade of their existence. They were brought up in the atmosphere of "Tunneltown," attended the same Sunday and day schools, watched games of "penny ante" and cent-pitching, much of which was then carried on at the old shipyard and nearby places. One of the youngsters developed into a Methodist preacher of the strictest sect, while the other evolved into a sport with dum vivimus vivamus (while we live let us live) as his motto and the Count of Monte Christo as his ideal. The proprietors of the "Ark" are the descendants of the latter.

THE PRESENT UNREST.

While some prefer to believe that dispatches from European capitals describing discontent and often rioting in cities of the central powers are edited by Germans who would make it appear that trying times exist among the enemies of the allies, and which are intended to dampen the war preparations now in progress in the United States, others are convinced that the half has never been told.

While dispatches from Amsterdam Berne, The Hague and other places might be taken cum grano salis, advices from Rome which show that the Vatican is being apprised of similar scenes in German and Austrian cities, naturally gives rise to the suspicion that where there is so much smoke there must be some fire.

That the mass of the people of Germany and Austria-Hungary are war weary must be admitted, and the fact that Germany is forced to send troops into cities of her allies in order to quell riots and force men, at the point of the bayonet, to return to munition factories is ominous.

While such scene are on the screen socialism is growing in every country, and the Bolsheviki is becoming stronger all the time.

One dispatch tells us that this organization is planning for a civil war, while another describes the assassination of two former Russian ministers

It is well-known that the Kaiser is anxious over the relations now existing between Russian and German socialists, and that representatives of this organization are to hold a conference in a neutral city for the purpose of formulating plans to end the war.

Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown has been realized since the foundation of the world. The Kaiser's contains many thorns.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION

FARMERS FIGHT OVER DRAFT.

One Beaten With Poker, Other Almost Loses Ear.

Winchester, Va., Jan. 21.—In a personal encounter Saturday between George I. Pietzer and Edward H. Woore, wealthy farmers, both were badly injured. Pietzer was struck repeatedly over the head and face with a poker wielded by Woore, while the latter had his left ear torn almost from his head and eye blackened and his face severely lacerated. Woore had his head swathed in cotton and bandages when he swore out a warrant for Pietzer, who is in bed under a physician's care.

The men met in a country store and during a general conversation Pietzer charged Woore with circulating stories that Pietzer had spent large sums of money to keep his son Henry Pietzer, out of the army. This Woore denied, and the lie was passed by Pietzer. He also is said to have grabbed Woore by the throat, pushing him off a chair. Woore seized a poker as he fell and beat Pietzer over the head.

Both men were covered with blood when bystanders separated them. Woore is much smaller than Pietzer, who weighs probably 250 pounds.

Pietzer's son was exempted by the district board under the first draft, but the local and district boards recently certified him for service in the second draft.

JILTS ALLEGED SLACKER.

Virginia Girl Refuses to Marry and Save Man From Draft.

Winchester, Va., Jan. 21.—The right of a woman to change her mind at any time was sustained last week by the clerk of the Corporation Court when he refused to return a license fee to Horace Ball, a draft registrant, who had returned a marriage license issued to him because the bride-to-be had turned him down. The young swain was jaunty and jubilant while procuring the license and tossed the clerk an extra fee for the document, reasoning at the time that he would soon be beyond the reach of the military draft. Half an hour later he returned sad and crestfallen, complaining that the girl would not have him. He had neglected to consult her before buying the license.

LEFT $2,000,000 FOR SCHOOLS

Handley Gift to Winchester, Va., Exceeds First Estimates.

Winchester, Va., Jan. 21.—The total gift of the late Judge John Handley, of Scranton, Pa., to the city of Winchester for educational purposes amounts to $2,000,000, which is much in excess of what it was thought to have been, according to the annual report of R. Gray Williams, president of the board of trustees. The General Education Board of America is now at work on plans for the application of the fund, and it is expected the work of building the Handley schools will be started during the coming summer.

FROZEN AT WIFE'S GRAVE.

Aged Man, Missing Several Days, Found Dead at Headstone.

Utica, N. Y., Jan. 21.—The body of Christopher Magra, aged 72, of Lowell, a small hamlet near Utica, was found frozen at the headstone on his wife's grave late Saturday. He had been missing since Tuesday. His wife died recently and he had grieved greatly.

SHIPS 15,000 TIES.

Unfinished Winchester (Va.) Railroad Helping Government.

Winchester, Va., Jan. 21.—The new Winchester and Western Railroad, extending from this city to Wardensville, W. Va., although not completed all the way, has opened for business. The road has begun carrying freights, and, patriotically enough, its first customer was Uncle Sam. The road sold to the Government over 15,000 railroad ties, and these are now being shipped to Sparrows Point, by way of the Baltimore and Ohio, with which the new line has a connection in Winchester. W. B Cornwell, president of the company, stated today that notwithstanding the cold weather the work on the road is steadily progressing. He said it is the only railroad for public purposes now under construction in the United States.

THANKS TO VIRGINIA.

French Visitors Send Telegram to Governor for Many Courtesies.

Governor Stuart has received from Jequi Montford Courtivron, Charles Edward Russell and the Marquis de Polignac a telegram of appreciation for courtesies received on the occasion of their visit to Richmond, when the sword of General de Polignac was presented to Virginia. The telegram, which is from Raleigh, says: "We have been deeply touched by the magnificent and cordial reception you and the hospitable citizens of Richmond extended to us, and on leaving your great state of Virginia we wish to express to you, and through you to the mayor, the reception committee and the generous people of Richmond the warmest gratitude of the party you so kindly entertained. We feel more than ever that America and France are forever united not in sentiment alone, but also by imperishable memories, by a common inspiration, a common purpose and a common devotion to liberty and democracy."

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO CONSUMERS OF COAL

At the direction of the Fuel Administrator for Virginia, an order has been issued to the retail dealers of coal in this city and county, not to deliver coal to household consumers, in quantities in excess of two tons and then only when the consumer's supply on hand is two tons or less. This will make the maximum quantity of four tons at any one time. To larger consumers, deliveries are not to be made in quantities greater than the actual needs of the consumers for fifteen days, and then only when the consumer's supply on hand is less than their requirements for fifteen days. This will make the maximum quantity held by larger consumers at any one time, only sufficient for their actual needs for thirty days or less. Industries buying coal in carload lots must obtain special permit from the Fuel Administrator.

To make this order effective, and to relieve the dealer of the responsibility and difficulty of ascertaining the supply any consumer has on hand, it is arranged that an affidavit be furnished by the purchasers of coal in excess of one-half ton (this affidavit can be made by any member of the family over sixteen years of age.) These forms for making the affidavits will be in the hands of the dealers, and notaries and the affidavits will be taken without charge, by any one of the following notaries public, who have offered their services to aid the Commission in this work: Miss Gladys M. Brooks, room 1, Alexandria National bank building; W. C. Drury, 107 south Royal street; J. T. Burke, Burke and Herbert; Miss Cora Duffey, Office, Clerk of Court; Courtland H. Davis, 121 south Royal street; Claude B. Crump, 1801 King street; M. L. Dinwiddie, Citizens National Bank; J. J Green, First National Bank; E. J. Fleming, 119 south Fairfax street; A. C. Moss, Alexandria National Bank.

By order of

STRIKE FOR PEACE.

100,000 Quit in Vienna and Neustadt; War Factories Closed.

London, Jan. 21.—A general strike is on throughout Austria, according to an exchange Telegraph dispatch from Paris yesterday, which reports 100,000 men quitting work in Vienna and Neustadt, closing down all the war factories. The strikers are described as openly anti-German, and the movement as both political and economic and especially aimed at securing peace.

Public demonstrations, it is added have been held in many places at which hostility was voiced toward Berlin for trying to force the Austrians to continue the war.

Amsterdam, Jan. 21.—Sparks of sedition are sputtering behind the hermetically sealed frontiers of Austria-Hungary, threatening at any moment to whip the empire-wide discontent into flames of open revolt.

So widespread and intense is this discontent that the very troops detailed to keep the borders closed and the news from filtering through are instrumental in keeping the world posted on the progress of Bolshevikism in the Hapsburg domain.

Strikes and riots, mutinies and peace demonstrations are the order of the day.

Some of the largest plants are affected, and the prospect of an empire-wide munitions strike looms large.

Vienna, Budapest and Prague are hotbeds of radical propaganda.

One of the largest Austrian munitions plants, just outside of Vienna at Wiener-Neustadt, is immediately within the score of the peace agitation, as are the big Skoda works outside of Pilsen.

It is now clear, from advices that reached here during the last twenty-four hours, that Germany, gravely alarmed over the effect of Bolshevikism upon her army and navy, and her home front, was determined to break off with the Russians at Brest-Litovsk, but was prevented in the eleventh hour from doing so by Count Czernin the Austrian foreign minister, who has pledged peace to the Austrian people in unequivocal terms.

RIVALS DIE IN DUEL.

Kentucky Youths Agreed on Fight as Only Way to Win Girl.

Stearns, Ky., Jan. 21.—News reached here yesterday by telephone that William Callahan and John Cody are dead near the North Fork section of the Cumberland River, as a result of a duel with pistols. According to the information the two young men, both farmers, were in love with the same young woman and had been at outs for some time. Meeting on the road they agreed to fight to the death, the one surviving having a clear field for the hand of the girl.

It is reported that the boys pulled heavy revolvers, turned their backs walked 15 steps, then faced about and fired simultaneously, both falling dead in the road.

According to eyewitnesses of the incident, Callahan and Cody met on Saturday and after a conversation agreed in an outwardly friendly manner that the only way out of their love affair was to fight a duel and that an agreement was made at this time and that the meeting in the roadway at the scene of the tragedy was prearranged.

THIEF KILLS POLICEMAN.

Shoots Boston Officer When Caught at Back Bay Apartment Door.

Boston, Jan. 21.—Mounted Policeman Joseph C. Reiser, on special duty was shot and killed at 5 30 yesterday afternoon in the apartment house, 107 Jersey street, Back Bay, by a burglar whom he had caught attempting to enter one of the apartments. When the officer confronted the burglar the latter pulled an automatic revolver, fired four shots, all of which took effect, and then made his escape. Reiser died before he could be taken to the hospital.

The killing of Reiser is the culmination of a series of burglaries in the Back Bay in which thousands of dollars' worth of goods were stolen. A number of policemen were on watch for a man wearing a raccoon coat, and when Reiser saw a man wearing such a coat and otherwise answering the description enter the house, he trailed him. The shooting occurred on the fourth floor. The burglar left no trace of his identity when he fled. Reiser was 35 years old and had been a policeman ten years.

WIRELESS YACHT SEIZED.

Federal Authorities Say Ship Owned By German Has Been Cruising Along Coast.

New York, Jan. 21.—The steel pleasure yacht Joyeuse, said to be owned by Emil H. Kleuge, an unnaturalized German, of Englewood, N. J., was seized here Saturday by United States Marshal McCarthy.

Federal authorities said the yacht, equipped with wireless, with Kleuge on board and manned by a Swedish crew, had been cruising recently along the Atlantic coast.

The yacht is licensed in the name of Arthur H. Marks, of Akron, Ohio, and it is claimed by the Government officials that Kleuge bought it from Marks in November, 1916, but no public record has been made of the transfer. The boat was relicensed in June of last year in Mark's name. It was pointed out by the officials that under the President's proclamation enemy aliens are not allowed to operate boats of any kind in American waters, which would have made it impossible for Kleuge to obtain a license in his own name.

UNREST IN AUSTRO-HUNGARY.

Soldiers Ordered to Shoot Down Strikers Clamoring for Peace.

Berne, Jan. 21. So serious has the internal situation become in Austro-Hungary through labor strikes and peace demonstrations that Germany has sent large forces of soldiers into industrial centers with orders to shoot down rioting strikers and to force them back into the factories, according to information received today from the Austrian frontier.

GERMAN CRUISER SUNK.

Careers of Goeben and Breslau Brought to a Close by British.

London, Jan. 21.—In a naval action between British and Turkish forces at the entrance to the Dardanelles, the Turkish cruiser Midullu, formerly the German Breslau, was sunk and the Sultan Yawuz Selim formerly the German Goeben, was beached This announcement was made by the admiralty last night.

IN

"Rose of The World"

In this picture Miss Ferguson plays an extremely heavy role in which the mental tortures she undergoes cause her hair to turn white. Many of the scenes are laid in India and weird types are shown among the natives, and the atmosphere is surcharged with mysticism. It teaches a strong moral to young wives.
